Teen Health: why this stuff is important

Your health is important. We don't need to tell you that. We just want to make sure that the health needs of straight, lesbian, gay, bisexual, transgender, queer and questioning youth are being taken care of by people who understand those needs. So we put together this card for you. Inside you'll find a list of resources to check out as well as contact information for HIV/STI testing sites and counseling services.
